How to
HOLD ON TO YOUR FAITH
IN AN AGE OF Deconstruction

WHAT IS INTELLIGENT FAITH?

*"An intelligent faith is not a faith that shuts off the mind.
It's a faith that welcomes honest questions, engages reason, and is informed by logic as we think carefully about the world around us."*

WHO WE ARE

Intelligent Faith is an apologetics ministry integrating arts, apologetics, and teaching to help Christians hold on to and contend for their faith in a world of competing ideas.

It exists to clarify misconceptions, clear confusion, and help believers engage hard and often controversial theological questions.

WHY IT MATTERS

Faithful Christians are still attending church yet quietly wrestling with questions shaped by culture, media, academia, and deconstruction.

When these questions go unaddressed, believers drift. Intelligent Faith creates the space to engage doubt without compromising conviction.

THE PROBLEM THE CHURCH IS FACING

QUESTIONS BENEATH THE SURFACE

Doubt and deconstruction are not happening on the margins of the church. They are happening within people inside the church. Faithful Christians are still showing up—still worshiping, still serving, still attending Bible studies, still on worship teams and in leadership circles while internally and quietly wrestling with deep skepticism, unresolved doubt, and provocative questions like:

- Is any of this even real?
- Why trust the Bible—can a book written by men really be trusted?
- Isn't it arrogant to believe that Christianity is the only true religion?

THE COST OF QUIET DOUBT

Many Christians don't ask questions aloud.

When they do, they're met with dismissal, thin answers, or silence.

Consequently they turn to social media, podcasts, and alternative voices. Causing many who are seemingly resolved to quietly drift away from the faith.

Intelligent Faith is designed to wrestle within this tension; partnering with churches to create space for real questions.
